

Supplemental Figure 1. Architecture of the nested cross validation framework. The five-fold inner loops were used for hyperparameter tuning using a 80% (training) – 20% (validation) split. The obtained hyperparameters were subsequently used in the test sets of the outer five-fold cross validation loops, that were split 80% (training+validation) – 20% (testing).

